

June 6, 2017

Nektar to Webcast Presentation at Jefferies 2017 Global Healthcare Conference in New York City

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Nektar Therapeutics (Nasdaq: NKTR) announced today that its corporate presentation will be webcast at the upcoming Jefferies 2017 Global Healthcare Conference in New York City on Wednesday, June 7, 2017 at 9:30 a.m. Eastern time.

The presentation will be accessible via a Webcast through a link posted on the Investors, Events Calendar section of the Nektar website: <http://ir.nektar.com/events.cfm>. This Webcast will be available for replay until July 10, 2017.

About Nektar

Nektar Therapeutics is a research-based development stage biopharmaceutical company whose mission is to discover and develop innovative medicines to address the unmet medical needs of patients. Our R&D pipeline of new investigational medicines includes treatments for cancer, auto-immune disease and chronic pain. We leverage Nektar's proprietary and proven chemistry platform in the discovery and design of our new therapeutic candidates. Nektar is headquartered in San Francisco, California, with additional operations in Huntsville, Alabama and Hyderabad, India. Further information about the company and its drug development programs and capabilities may be found online at <http://www.nektar.com>.

Contact:

Investors
Jennifer Ruddock of Nektar Therapeutics
415-482-5585

To view the original version on PR Newswire, visit: <http://www.prnewswire.com/news-releases/nektar-to-webcast-presentation-at-jefferies-2017-global-healthcare-conference-in-new-york-city-300469746.html>

SOURCE Nektar Therapeutics

News Provided by Acquire Media